

FINNPROT

Finnish Proteomics Society

We are happy to invite You to the

10th Anniversary symposium of FinnProt November 7th 2014 Logomo, Turku

FinnProt was founded in November 2004 as the Proteomics Division of the BioBio Society (Societas Biochemica, Biophysica et Microbiologica Fenniae). One of the most important goals of FinnProt is to unite people involved, or planning to get involved in proteomics in Finland. FinnProt is part of the European Proteomics Association, EuPA, and has an active role in developing connections from Finland to leading proteomics laboratories in Europe.

The 10th FinnProt Anniversary Symposium is open to everybody, and a major focus of the symposium is to introduce proteomics research performed in Finland. Also several proteomics core facilities in Finland provide their expertise in various fields of protein chemistry, proteomics and mass spectrometry analysis, and they have an opportunity to present their services in the symposium.

Venue location: Köydenpunojankatu 14, 20100 Turku (www.logomo.fi/)

The program includes:
